Farmington H. S. 20; P. H. S. 14

The Paris High School eleven were overcome by weight at Farmington, Saturday afternoon, but held their heavier opponents to a comparatively narrow margin. Paris was successful in the forward pass and got away with two touchdowns in clever trick plays. Aside from a weakness in the defense, the Paris outfit played a skillful game and showed marked improvement under the coaching of Storer and Merrill. Summary:

Congregational Church Notes
Regular preaching service next Sunday morning at 10:45. Sermon by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Morris. The church school will convene immediately following the morning service. Classes for all ages. Next Sunday will be observed as Rally day by the Christian Endeavor Society. The meeting will commence at 8 o'clock, led by the pastor. Subject: "How to Improve the Meetings of Our Society." All members of the society and the young people of the church and Sunday school are expected to be present. The closing service of the day will be at seven o'clock, when Mr. Morris will deliver the last of four addresses on "The Place of the Bible in Our Modern Life." Owing to the service to be held in the church, Tuesday, the regular midweek prayer meeting will be dispensed with next Wednesday evening, in order to enable all who desire to attend the State Sunday School Convention meeting in the High Street Congregational Church, Auburn.

Moving Picture Theatre to Open
Gray & Carigan, who operates the Savoy theatre before the fire, have leased for a term of years the first floor of the new Odd Fellows block now under construction. The new theatre will be called "The Strand," with a dropped floor and the most modern equipment. Steel and brick construction in the building will render the place absolutely fireproof. William E. DeGroteau, manager of the Rex at Norway, and Robinson theatre at Oxford, will be in charge here. The lessee hopes to open early in January.

Paris Grange
Paris Grange met Oct. 1, at 2 p. m. Arrangements were made for a Grange Fair to be held Oct. 20 and 21, with a drama, "A Poor Married Man," to be given both evenings followed by a dance the last evening, Oct. 21.

The anniversary of Paris Grange will be observed the first meeting in November.

The dance given at Grange Hall, Tuesday evening, under the management of Percy Twissell of Norway and Raymond Dunham was largely attended. The new orchestra received favorable comment for the high quality of dance music rendered.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dunham are moving their household goods to the Dunham homestead at North Paris, where they will reside. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dunham have rooms in the Maxim block in Market Square and will continue the restaurant and pool room business.

Sergt. Edgar Williams Andrews

"Eternal youth is death's surpassing gift to those he claimed too soon" is the compensating and comforting thought that sustains the sorrowing relatives and friends through the otherwise unbearable sadness of the loss of their beloved young relative and comrade. As the result of a shock, Sergt. Edgar Williams Andrews, a veteran of the World War, passed away Tuesday morning, Sept. 27, at the home of his foster sisters, Mrs. Sadie Locke and Mrs. Mattie Hopkins, on Main street, Norway. His age was 33 years, 6 mos., and 2 days. The effect of gas is believed to have hastened his death.

The deceased was born at Bolster's Mills on March 25, 1888 and was the son of the late Augustus and Clara (Smith) Andrews. His mother died when he was young and he received a home with Mrs. Isadore Poland at Welchville, who was like a mother to him. Enlisting in the local military company, he served on the Mexican border as cook with Company D, 2d Maine Infantry, and was promoted to Sergeant. After returning home, he worked for the Carroll, Jefferson Shoe Co., until called into the World War with the same company. Supply Sergeant Andrews fought with the Yankee Division which was a part of a unit that went through the gas attack at Apremont, France, on May 10, 1918, where the unit suffered heavily. Returning to Norway after the armistice, with his health greatly impaired, he secured employment for a time, but was obliged to undergo treatment at the Marine Hospital at Portland. Of late he has been employed at the W. F. Tubbs Snowshoe factory. He was a prominent member of Wm. Henry Stone Post American Legion, and active in the extension of its principles. He was also a member of Norway Lodge No. 16, I. O. O. F., of Hamlin Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Norway Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, and of the D. O. K. E. of Auburn. The deceased leaves four brothers: Eugene and Lewis of South Paris; Sewell of Bolster's Mills, Guy of Poland, and one sister, Mrs. Hattie Smith of Waterville.

A military funeral was held Friday afternoon, at the Universalist Church, William Henry Stone Post American Legion, where in charge, and their members acted as bearers. Rev. Chester G. Miller officiated. Interment was at the Riverside Cemetery extension, South Paris.

WATCHES

When the horological experts of the greatest nations of five continents started out to find for their official use the most dependable railroad watch in the world, they tested in turn the most famous timepieces of Switzerland, France, England and America.

The watch they finally chose in preference to all others was a Waltham.

Waltham Railroad Watches are adjusted to heat and cold, five and six positions. Will pass the inspection of any railroad in the world.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Arthur E. McNeil, the 17 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon McNeil of Lewiston, died about 10.30 Sunday morning at Lovell as the result of an automobile accident late Saturday night near Lovell village. McNeil was returning from the Waterford fair in company with Charles Lawrence of Gorham on their way to Mr. Lawrence's home at Gorham. They were said by persons witnessing the accident to be traveling at a moderate rate of speed when failing to see a sharp turn in the road Mr. Lawrence drove the car over a steep embankment striking against a tree and throwing McNeil out. Lawrence was unhurt.

Persons traveling the road when the machine failed to make the turn say, when they went to the aid of the men in the car, they found young McNeil hanging out of the right doorway of the machine with only his foot in the car. He was rushed at once to the home of Dr. Allen, Lovell village, where he was attended by Dr. Allen and Dr. Luger of Cornish. Both physicians agreed that the youth died from serious injury to his kidneys and back.

Shortly after Mr. and Mrs. McNeil learned of the accident they were on their way to Lovell arriving a half-hour before he passed away, but in time to exchange a few words as the boy had not lost consciousness after he came to during the early hours of the morning. Aside from his father and mother, Arthur is survived by a brother, Eugene Edward, and a grandmother, Mrs. A. J. Hall of Lewiston.

HIRAM

Hon. Alton C. Wheeler of South Paris, gave a very able address on "The Signs of the Times" at Hiram on Saturday evening, Sept. 24, to a large and attentive audience.

Mr. Wheeler is a member of the most able speaker and he has many calls in this line both in and outside the State; and he is also one of our leading attorneys.

Governor Baxter, having recognized Mr. Wheeler's ability, recently appointed him a member of the Water Power Commission of Maine.

ALBANY

Carlton Saunders has shot two bears at North Albany.

Mrs. Cundall's family have left their summer home at Hunt's Corner and gone to their home at Readville, Mass.

Chesley Fernald, who passed away, Sept. 12, was a very industrious man and could always find work enough to do.

He was a good farmer and always took a great deal of liking in good horses and fine steers and oxen. He used to run a birch mill for many years. He was a kind and obliging neighbor. He was a great dancer and could dance better after 80 years old than a good many of the younger dancers. He joined Oxford Lodge of Odd Fellows of North Waterford, July 24, 1878, and has attended more lodge meetings than any other member of the lodge according to the long distance he had to go. His father lost his life in a southern prison during the Civil war.

The sad news came of the death of Mrs. French. She went up to her old home in Sturbridge, Mass., to visit her folks. She leaves two children, the youngest being less than one year old.

Hiram French and son bought the John Cummings farm last year, and moved on to it a year ago from New Hampshire.

Amos G. Bean, who passed away, Sept. 25, was the son of Amos Bean of Mass. who lost his life in the Civil war. A. G. Bean was also a soldier of the Civil war and severely wounded, and taken prisoner and as obliged to use crutches for a long time. After the war he went to South Paris and learned the shoemaker's trade and afterward came back to Albany and did shoemaking. Afterwards he built a store and went into trade, and did quite a stroke of farming every year.

He bought several lots of timber land, making a good thing on most of the lots he bought. He sold the last big lot one year ago to Dexter Nutting and James Stone of Otisfield. He was almost the last soldier of the civil war that was left in Albany. He was a member of the Congregational church. In politics he was a strong Republican. He belonged to the Grand Army Post, was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge of Bethel and was buried under that order. The funeral was held at the church, Rev. Mr. Curtis officiated. Hastings Bean and family and Asa Keniston and wife of South Paris attended the funeral. Mr. Bean was a good neighbor and will be much missed in many ways.

SWEDEN

No frost in this section up to the present time, but the leaves are turning and some trees have lost all their leaves.

In spite of the hot dry season Eufauld Plummer has about 200 bushels of nice yellow corn raised on less than an acre of ground.

Miss McGorman spent the week end at Poland Springs.

Mrs. Lester Blair and little son Harry, visited relatives at Mechanic Falls one day recently.

Edwin Farr went to Bryant Pond Saturday with a load of labels for Fernald, Keene and True Company.

On account of the shower Friday evening, the band concert was not held at the Chapel. Mr. Jordan and John E. Esenden of Mechanic Falls came over and a few of the members went with them to Jesse Keene's and rehearsed.

Edwin Farr and family called at John Edwards', Megquier Hill, Sunday.

The Berry brothers held a dance at the Grange Hall Thursday evening and a nice time was reported.

Robert Fernald returned to the Abbott school, Farmington, Wednesday, Sept. 28th.

EVERY month when you pay the landlord doesn't it seem a pity to put your money into his property instead of yours? Ten years rent money will buy a home while you live in it. Now get busy with your savings account. Save the first payment. Move in. Bank your rent money and clear the mortgage. Millions have done it. You can.

"What is Threaded Rubber?"

Threaded Rubber Insulation is made up of sheets of rubber, each pierced by 196,000 tiny threads. The rubber insulates each plate from its neighbor and the threads allow the battery solution to circulate freely.

Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation stays on the job month after month unaffected by acid and without a sign of splitting, cracking or perforation. It lasts as long as the battery plates and helps the battery give more miles of uninterrupted service per dollar.

You'll need a battery one of these days, so the time to get your battery information is right now. We'll be glad to show you a Threaded Rubber Battery inside and outside and tell you why it saves you money.

GOV. BAXTER WARNS HUNTERS

The approach of the hunting season finds the woods of Maine unusually dry and the danger of forest fires is critical. I urge hunters and all others who go into the woods to cooperate with our Forest Service in doing everything to protect the valuable timberlands of the State. I hope that the opening of the hunting season will not be followed by an increase in the number of forest fires.

Under the laws of the State the Governor has authority to suspend the open season for hunting and he can prohibit the carrying of fire-arms in the forests of the State, but this authority should be used only in case of a real emergency. Our forests must be protected from fire and every precaution against fire must be taken by those who are about to enjoy the woods of Maine.

Marshall Baldwin and wife from Portland visited his grandfather, A. E. Marshall, the first of this week.

O. Howard Bryant and wife from Auburn were at W. E. Bryant's, Saturday night and Sunday.

Ed Anderson and wife from Norway were at D. O. Hills', Saturday.

TAXATION AND HIGH COST OF LIVING

Nearly every community in the wide world is intensely interested in the reduction of the heavy burden of taxation and the high cost of living.

As this is not a party question, we propose to give under this head weekly clippings from the newspapers and summaries of what is being done relative to these matters, as well as attract the attention and interest of our readers.

The U. S. Dist. Atty. of New York has started the greatest movement against profiteers that has so far been undertaken in this country. Indictments have been found by the Grand Jury against nineteen or more companies or corporations and some two hundred individuals controlling products and prices in the building industry. A leading Boston Daily says: "These corporations have their headquarters in twenty states, and they have used their powers of price fixing and the elimination of competition so successfully that they have increased the cost of the industry and have been able to boost prices, within a few years from $40. a ton to from $300 to $400."

Tax rate, city of Portland, Me., $31.60 per $1,000 valuation.

Tax rate, city of Lynn, Mass., $28.40 per $1,000 valuation.

Tax rate, city of Concord, N. H., $28.20 per $1,000 valuation.

"Thirty Nantucket, with $3 cut from its tax rate, and a rate of only $19.50, reaches this enviable position through a curiously fortunate growth, or recovery of long-lost prosperity. The valuation in Nantucket during the last decade has increased from $4,176,884 to $5,918,050, and this without a revaluation.

Back in the '40's Nantucket was a place of wealth. With the collapse of whaling, the town divided. Then its delights as a summer resort began to boom. But the coming of winter instead of Nantucketers expect to make enough in July and August to keep them the rest of the year."

SOUTH ALBANY

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bennett have moved onto the farm which they recently bought of John McAllister. We are glad to have young people come into the place and it will seem good to have the house kept open the coming winter instead of being closed as it was last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Millett and children of Waterford and Mrs. Merton Kimball and children of South Waterford visited at Merritt Sawin's Saturday night and Sunday.

Elmer Healy and son Berkey are buying a number of lots of apples in this vicinity. They have bought Ernest Brown's and also Merritt Sawin has sold his to them. They buy them on the trees and do the picking themselves.

Walter Canwell shows us an oak sprout that he cut from the stump of a tree that was cut down last spring which measured a growth of over eight feet this summer. Pretty good for a dry year.

Nina Briggs visited her friend, Mrs. Ernest Grover, Friday night, and attended the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis McAllister of Fryeburg visited his brothers, David and Ingalls McAllister, last week.

Roy Wardwell has started out with his threshing machine. Leon Kimball is working with him. Mr. Kimball, who has been having a serious time with an abscess caused by a bad tooth, has had the tooth taken out and the jaw bone treated. He is getting well over the trouble.

Mrs. Stella McKen visited at Richard Fleek's in Harrison, several days last week.

Ernest Grover of North Waterford has bought the apples on Herman Holt's place on Dupree and picked them last week.

There were grand electrical displays Wednesday night. The northern lights were seen in strange forms. Long parallel bars of white light crossed the heavens from east to west, gradually changing to curious spots and streamers. Several spots showed the brilliant hues of the rainbow. We also saw many shooting stars. Friday night we were visited by a furious wind and rain storm with fierce lightning and heavy thunder. The storm passed southeast of us but the wind from the southeast held it back for some time.

We were all grateful for the heavy rainfall and thankful that no more damage was done. The whole top of one large apple tree at the foot of the hill just beyond Merritt Sawin's house was twisted off from the trunk and laid on the ground. It was perfectly sound and must have required a mighty wrench to have twisted off so long a tree.

LOVELL

Arthur Fox has bought the Oldin McAllister farm. Mr. McAllister is in poor health.

Will Fox and family have moved to Bridgton.

Mrs. Gilmer is stopping at Fred Stearns' while her husband is away.

SUPER-SIX

$1895

A Greater Super-Six For Less Money

It is a handsomer car—It is easier to operate—
It is improved in many mechanical features—
It is more economical—It has the exclusive
Super-Six features for increasing car life.

We Are Showing It For the First Time

The perfection that men said would make the Hudson Super-Six the finest automobile that is built is embraced in the new models we are now showing.

Six years with 111,000 cars now in use have shown how to free it from many of the annoyances regarded inevitable in all cars.

Recall the Qualities For Which it is Known

Each year has seen the emphasis of some new quality in the Hudson Super-Six. Six years ago, when new, it was the 72 per cent. greater horsepower without increase of motor size or sacrifice of simplicity that attracted.

Some thought such power would prove destructive, and so many famous tests were made to prove endurance.

Every one recalls how Hudson stock cars made new records for speed. Among them 1819 miles in 24 hours.

The run from San Francisco to New York and return in 10 days, 21 hours, remains unmatched though numerous attempts have since been made by others.

Only within the Hudson organization was such development possible. It's engineers, for the most part, the same personnel responsible for all previous Hudsons, have had unequalled opportunities.

Every car built in those years became a guide to future advancement. Every endurance test revealed new ways to improvement. Every model suggested a simpler, more beautiful car. The experience of every owner was an influence toward perfection.

It created new standards of beauty. Each body type is famous for good looks and the completeness of every detail.

The new Hudson Super-Six is the fulfillment of the promise of those 111,000 cars now in service.

Prompt Deliveries To Early Buyers

The Super-Six has always been the largest selling fine car. Think what must be the demand for this greatest of all Hudsons and at this price.

Early buyers will get first deliveries.

The Greatest Value Hudson Ever Offered.

OXFORD GRANGE FAIR

Oxford Grange, No. 46, opened its 5th annual exhibit, Saturday, Oct. 1st, under smiling skies with all the town's people ready to boost their Community Fair, and a record breaking, jolly good crowd willing to enjoy the sights and partake of a delicious dinner prepared by the ladies, and surely the noon hour was a rushing one and continued until 1.30 o'clock. Mrs. Lottie Hunting, Mrs. Mildred Chaplin, Mrs. Winfield Gammon, Mrs. Geo. Tyner and Mrs. Gardiner Edwards were committees. The Hall was very prettily decorated and owing to the very dry season, fruit and vegetable display was not as large as in former years, everything was a credit to the exhibitors. Riverside Farm J. V. Hunting, proprietor, as usual took 1st on farm exhibit of canned goods, ripe raspberries, eggs and vegetables. Many fine varieties of apples were shown by Howard Coy, Chas. Bumpus and C. K. Denning, won a blue card with 16 varieties of apples. Millard Kendall won 1st on box of strawberries. Mrs. H. Ramsdell, 2nd. Huge pumpkins from R. F. Staples, John Rowe, Harry Hirst. Potatoes, True Farm. Canned goods, Mrs. Charles Bumpus, Alice Tyner, Mrs. Hannaford, Maud Hunting.

Mrs. C. K. Denning exhibited a beautiful fuchsia and white geranium. Lincoln Chaplin showed popcorn and yellow corn. Committee, J. V. Hunting, Geo. Tyner, R. F. Staples.

Frank True sent many beautiful flowers for decoration.

Fancy Work Exhibit

In the fancy work line, Mrs. Gardiner Edwards won 1st, best collection embroidery and crochet, 3 yokes, 4 towels, 2 centerpieces, 1 lunch set. Betty Thomas 1st, collection of 10 yokes. 3 table runners, 2 handkerchiefs, Mrs. Peter Barrett, 2nd. Towel, table runners, crochet jacket, 1st, Mrs. Wardwell. Nightgown, 1st, Mrs. Tague. Lila Hall, 2 towels, 1 braided rug, 1st. Patchwork by Eleanor Hall, age 4, 2nd, and Leona Paine of the same age very neatly sewed a patchwork holder, and won 1st premium. Stella Powers won 1st on 1 nightgown and 2 combinations. Eva Robinson, 1st, embroidered table runner; Mrs. Peter Barrett, 2nd, on towel and table runner; Mrs. E. C. Staples, 1st, 3 yokes, 1 nightgown, 4 towels. Mrs. Joseph Hunting showed a shawl brought from France by her husband, Sergt. J. V. Hunting, also table mats, handkerchief and apron. Mrs. John P. Hall won 1st on table runner and one night robe. Alice Tague, 2nd, on centerpiece.

Others exhibiting fancy work were: Mrs. Arthur Hannaford, Mrs. Harry Ramsdell, 1st, on patchwork quilt; Mrs. Chas. Rowe, 1st, quilt top; Hazel Marshall, tea cloth, napkins, 1st, Mrs. W. M. Grover, 1 yoke, 1 robe; Marion Augur, center piece, 2nd; Mrs. Harry Noyes, 2 towels, 1 pair socks and 1 table runner and 1 scarf.

Three quilts were sold by tickets, and were won by John Fessenden, Mechanic Falls, John Brackett, Otisfield, and Mrs. Scott Patterson, Welchville.

Mrs. Evelyn Wait sold aprons made by the Riverside Sewing circle until the last one was gone.

A collection of crayon drawings was exhibited by Mrs. Harold Pratt and showed many blue ribbons won at larger fairs. A crocheted dress and cap by Mrs. Helen Pratt won 1st; exhibit of pottery, Mrs. O. J. Bradford won 1st. Committees in charge of this department were Mrs. Peter Barrett, Mrs. Frank Wilson.

Baby Show

One of the pretty features of the forenoon was the showing of eight babies. Committee, Mrs. Glen Poland, Mrs. Henry Hirst and Roscoe Staples. Judges, Mrs. J. C. MacIntyre, Mrs. Solon Downing, Mrs. Bradford. Class over 1 year: Louise Tyner, 1st; Edna Hannaford, 2nd; Linwood Hall, 3rd. Class under 1 year: Marion Wood, 1st, Horace Holmes, 2nd, Marion Record, 3rd.

Albert Butler, Lawrence Hannaford. All received a nice bib with pin.

Antiques

Antiques were in a collection by themselves on the stage representing a room with fireplace. Largest collection: Mrs. Frank Wilson, 1st; Mrs. Nell Kendall, 1st, old china, and blanket, spun and woven by Mrs. Jos. Jordan. A paring machine, C. H. Brett, 1792. A powder horn, B. M. Pratt. Mrs. J. C. MacIntyre, bead bag 150 years old.

Mrs. Wilson exhibited the first medicine trunk carried by Dr. Ira Danforth, 1820. A sword used during the World war by Mrs. Harold Pratt's brother.

Many very old chairs, tables and pewter ware were exhibited.

Harold G. Stearns sold "Wear-Ever" aluminum cooking specialties in the hall.

Violin music by Jack Hale, piano, Mr. Scribner, entertained those who sat and chatted during afternoon.

On the midway were a goodly array of doll baby shows, hit the bigger, and trinkets for sale. Al Twitchell sold fruit and the Grange had a booth where Richard Tyner, Arthur Hannaford and Everett Boyker sold ice cream, hot dogs, candy, cigars.

A ball game during the forenoon was so closely contested as to be almost a tie.

Forrest Thomas, Arthur Davis and Gardiner Edwards "pulled" horses both forenoon and afternoon. True Farm horses won sweepstakes, Gardiner Edwards, driver.

Registered stock: R. M. Tyner, Gurnseys, 1st and 2nd; C. H. Brett, Holsteins, 3rd. Swine: C. H. Brett, eight weeks old pigs, 1st. Poultry: Mrs. J. C. MacIntyre, Farralls, 1st; Barred Rocks, Richard Tyner, 1st; Mrs. Howard Coy, 2nd; White Leghorns, Archie Edwards, 1st; Leghorn pullets, R. M. Tyner, 1st; White Wyandottes, Mrs. Frank Baker, 1st.

A pen of Belgian Hares and Flemish Giant, owned by 13 year old Dana Hannaford and a pair of goats by C. H. Brett.

PROSPEROUS FARMER'S WIFE NEARLY STARVED

Declaring she was actually starving to keep from suffering awful misery, Mrs. Amy Peterson, wife of a prosperous farmer of Lakeville, Mass., gave out a remarkable statement, recently, in connection with her relief through the use of Tanlac.

"Sometimes I wonder how I lived through it all," she said. "I would have attacks of acute indigestion nearly every time I ate anything. Those terrible cramping pains and the distress, from gas and bloating were almost unbearable and I just thought there was no hope for me."

"But now I'm eating anything and I feel as strong and well as I ever felt in my life. I've gained back all the weight I lost and six pounds besides and I know from my experience what Tanlac will do. It's the best medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold by A. L. Clark Drug Co., Norway; Stowell Bros., Locke's Mills; R. E. Pinkham, East Waterford; W. H. Brown, East Stoneham; Heald, Stearns & Kimball, Lovell; H. L. Hulebus Co., North Fryeburg; L. B. Rounds & Co., Waterford, and P. G. Barrett, Welchville, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Millett and family and Mrs. Frank Millett and son Leslie went in their two autos to the World's Fair at North Waterford, Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holt and family also took in the fair.

Mrs. Hattie Beck of Milton, Mass., is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Rust Jackson, on the farm. She is very much taken with the scenery round about and thinks the air is very bracing. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Rust Jackson and daughter, Doris Beaulieu and Mrs. Beck took the same wonderful trip to Azischoas Dam and through Dixville Notch to The Balsams, that Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Jackson and family took. Nate Noble drove for them, too. This is the fourth time he has taken the trip this summer, and each time finds it bracing.

Leslie Millett and Willard Berry took Rose Noble and Florence Young, who is the new teacher at Milletville school, through Portland to Gorham Normal school to call on Verna Westleigh, daughter of Mrs. Harry Jackson, who is a student there, last Sunday. They found her well and delighted to see them, as home faces looked good to her.

Nathan Noble and nine children had a group photo taken at Vivian Akers' this week, and the children insisted on "Grandpa" Melbie Dunham having one with them, too. It will be a fine thing to keep for them. They are a bright, good looking family of children from 3 years to 21 years old and good scholars all of them as well as capable helpers at home, where they have managed with Grandma's help for three years since their mother's death.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg Dinsmore and son Stanford and Mr. and Mrs. Berry of Portland, who have had Reg's camp for the summer, are away on a hunting trip. Jack Heintz, U. S. N., who has been and is, on a leave, called on Allie Noble and says he finds the time long aboard ship.

Lydia Foster of North Norway called on Mrs. S. I. Jackson at Green Elms one day last week, and took home several books to read. She is reading nearly every book of all kinds but professional or scientific in the public library, and some through twice. She is a great reader and enjoys books on travel, especially, even finding pleasure in reading over her old geography and history.

PORCH CHAMBER REVERIES

When the writer was about the pant-bursting age, his father thought the old farmhouse was too contracted and built on an annex called in common parlance of the day, a "porch." The loft in this building remained unfinished for many years and was used as a general storage for old discarded furniture and empty barrels. Among the assortment of "filthy lucre," as Uncle Ben Becker would have said, there was an old ragged and becrumpled "lunge," as grandmother called it, and when too lazy to work in the field and prayers for rain had been answered by a three-days' downpour to enable the mind-hungry boy to hie away to this secluded place to read, he stretched himself upon this ancient-looking and copperplate upholstered couch and with a bundle of out-of-date newspapers and such books as could be borrowed in the neighborhood, feasted his mind on their contents.

The pattering rain making sweet music up on the roof, was a soothing accompaniment to my literary performance and my thoughts were soon running among the eloquent description of Washington Irving and Schoolcraft. After a delicious entertainment over my books and old newspapers (excuse the seeming paradox) sleep, "Nature's sweet restorer," assumed control, and the gentle revivification of rain upon the shingles seconded the attempt, and I was off for excursions among the ancient and ruinous structures of Europe; the whole arrangement inspired and carried forward by the imaginative thoughts by the realistic and impressive subjects had been reading; and while thus borne upon the wings of unfeathered dreams my mental vision was quickened and my power of assimilation abnormally intensified. The picturesque features of the panorama stood forth in bold relief and every object fixed the mental attention more deeply. As the screen floated along and was passing the observer, there appeared the description given by Irving of a visit to Westminster Abbey, the great museum of kings and sages, and in my dream all of the details and particulars passed in singularly methodical order before my camera mind. The writer, whose delineation I had been reading had called the roof on the Abbey "a miracle in stone" and had described the choir boys as representing his ideal of angels. He had called the architecture, as I now recall the article, the elaborate tombs in the Royal Chapels where were seen the effigies of the queens, Elizabeth and Mary of Scotland.

Well, all of these objects passed in harmonious order before my own highly sensitized mind and the impression was made practically indelible. But while in the midst of my indescribable mental banquet, my father rapped upon the stairs and announced dinner. What a pity to be awakened from such delicious feasting all dripping with the excitement of the experience, was something too abrupt and startled me. My thoughts had been switched from the transporting scenes of objects across the seas to a table supplied for the simple demands of the material man and were left temporarily, like a flock of frightened birds, flying in every direction.

I took my seat at the table and shall never forget the disdainful wave of his hand and the expression of my father's face when I undertook to describe to him what I had seen. "There! there!" he said, "just disabuse your mind of all such foolish notions; you are a farmer's son, and you will never see such things. Somehow my heart sank within me, and, at the same time, an element of my nature asserted itself and assisted me in a determination to out-general the discouraging pronouncement of my father and I still hoped for the day when I could break away from local restraints and plane my ambitious wings for flight. From the hour that I was so chagrined by the remark to which I had listened, I believe there was never a day when I recalled the incident in which my resolve was not renewed and my hope stimulated for a realization of what I had, in fancy, seen while dreaming on the old ragged lounge in the chamber of the porch of the old hillside farmhouse in my native town; and that day came at last.

I had broken away bodily from the old paths and shaken off the dust of the furrows and gone forth to cut my swath among the competitors of fortune on the great fields of human endeavor. I will pass without particular notice a hundred events that had, subsequently, recalled my experience at the old homestead, until circumstances unlooked for at the time, afforded the means for the gratification of my long wished for enjoyment. After crossing the stormy Atlantic and the experience of enlarging the great pond by the steamer's railing at windward," and the visitation of numerous cities in Scotland and England, I had reached St. Pancras station on the Midland railroad in London. I was pleasantly disappointed in finding the metropolis free from fog. The summer day was all that could be desired. But what must have been my feelings as I stood on the platform of that vast building with grip in hand and thought of my isolation and insignificance as but one small personality in the midst of five millions of people! How singular the workings of the human mind! I had somewhere been reading a small book entitled, "Alone in London," in which a poor waif had been cast up like an obsolete seashell on the streets of the city; the parallel surroundings suggesting the story.

Calling to a cabman I started for the Strand and the building of the Y. M. C. A., where I obtained fine lodgings and entertainment during my visit in the city. But visions of the old porch chamber away over in America haunted me and an insatiable longing to see Westminster Abbey.

I could hardly wait till morning; and immediately after leaving the table spread for the morning meal, I was at the curbstone calling for a cab to convey me to that world-famed shrine. The drive was long, but "anticipation pointed the way" and we were set down at Westminster Square where the great British Parliament Building stands and where the ancient towers of the Abbey raise their crinkled heads toward the skies. There was a guard stationed at the vestibule dressed in a blood-red coat and white hat. He announced that Canon Farrar was about to conduct a service and that if I wished merely to view the building and tombs perhaps I had better wait and come again; but I refused to be put off and entered the Abbey. This was opportune as I soon learned, for some of the scenes pictured upon my memory while dreaming in the old porch chamber were to be duplicated before my mortal eyes. As I sat in that wonderful sacred building and looked upward I saw that stone roof sculptured as Washington Irving had described it, "a miracle in stone." Above this there was a super-roof through which the light filtered and entered the building through the openings of marvelous sculpture and graceful patterns of this under shield, and producing a wonderful effect upon the objects below.

Then I listened to the rich tones of that wonderful organ and to the reading of the ritual; I saw those choirboys as they came down the aisle four abreast dressed in their white robes and white neckties, their waving hair cut square across their foreheads and falling behind upon their shoulders. They were all blonds and resembled each other so closely that one would have assumed that they were made to order. So impressive was the scene and the service that my emotions overwhelmed my spirit and I took my seat and held my head in my hands to collect my thoughts; but then there was a singular transition and I was far away across the ocean and once more dreaming in the chamber of the old farm house where I caught the first glimpse, mentally, of the scenes now spread out before me; and this was more of a dream than that. Was that humble farmer's boy actually the great city of London and within Westminster Abbey? The fact was too great for comprehension and staggered me. As I raised my head and took another survey of the room I saw in a transept the bust of our beloved Longfellow half buried with the flowers carried there by the genius of his admirers and admirers; and this object was the culmination of my day's experience. I had long been instructed and fascinated with the writings of our Maine poet, but when I saw the image of his face in that far away place I felt his influence more than ever before.

The service ended, the screens were run back and the audience was permitted to wander through the Abbey to view the tombs and read the inscriptions thereon. Here were buried the mortal remains of great men and monarchs and I tried to fancy them as they lived and savored their power over their fellowmen; but they died as other men died and their dust was of no more intrinsic value than that of the most lowly peasant. In the Divine estimation perhaps their souls were not to be compared in value with those of the lowly peasant, but obscure and without the sculptured urn.

Again and again I wandered back to spend many hours in this ancient church and tomb and was constantly under the spell of the boyhood dream through which I had been mentally and spiritually transported across seas where, in reality, I feasted my soul through my eyes on the scenes and objects so long desired as depicted by the facile pen of the great American writer, Washington Irving.

From this segment of some mystic circle that comprises a thousand such possibilities as have been presented in this humble sketch, lessons of instruction and a practical character may be evolved. Aside from many other remarkable privileges enjoyed during that summer of summers while roaming over European lands, this alone has furnished me with a continual intellectual feast, the recollections of what my eyes saw and my emotions experienced, have been like salvers heaped with choicest viands upon which to feast my soul during all of the subsequent years; and I have been constantly reminded of the fact that in this world, the people of the world, have been deprived of much that a wise Creator intended should be used for its enlightenment and enjoyment. I mean by this suggestion that there are thousands of persons who are conscious of possessing talents and resources that, had they been able, would have been used to escape from their restrictive environments and rise above their disabilities, might be developed for active employment among their fellowmen for their good and happiness. For want of the necessary schooling or words of encouragement, these individuals were cramped and encumbered with weights too heavy to be overcome by personal endeavor, and they have lived out their lives dissatisfied and burdened with the conviction that they had lost, and the world consequently, the most precious inheritance of their existence because these dormant powers had been undeveloped and unpolished. There may be those in whom there was not the unconquerable will power to surmount obstacles that were possessed by the writer of these lines. For a fortunate turn of circumstances, however, was given his desires and the momentum was generated by oft repeated recollections of the reading and realistic dream that followed; these supplemented by the inheritance of an unquenchable determination not to be subjugated by force of circumstances gained the victory.

The apparently insurmountable wall of adamant that seemed to rise before him only challenged the attempt to cut places for his hands and feet and thus scale what appeared to have been the "battlements of Fate." Had he yielded to the discouraging influences that beset his path in youth and subordinated himself to the powers that be, he would have lived a life of dire disappointment and died to carry out of this world much that has enhanced his own existence and been blessed somewhat for the entertainment and instruction of others. To all who have faith in the powers that be, mental claims and the demands of uneducated and undeveloped talent, our advice would be, assert your prerogatives and remain no longer a slave to local circumstances; rise above every discouragement, surmount every obstacle, and buttress the timbers of the world that stand up and say without unjustifiable boasting: "I am a man, every inch of me."

There is another side to this question; another angle from which to view the subject. Let no father attempt to cramp the minds and stultify the aspirations of their sons and daughters by trying to make them imitators of his own failures in so doing precious stones in the rough may remain unpolished through life and their possibility of shining forever hindered. As the little boy playing upon the floor will indicate his preference by the facility with which he uses his hands for his hammer, the little girl exhibit her innate fondness for books or flowers, they should be encouraged and trained along these nature-lines; so should those who, during the school-days, are encouraged in the development of their unmistakable inclinations. If a boy insists in drawing portraits on his slate, or even on a blackboard when the teacher is absent, he should not be punished by trying to crush out the taste, but should be given the opportunity and the facilities for drawing forth these inherent qualities and thus hasten the day when he shall be accorded the acclaim of authorship.

SUITS THAT ARE MOST PLEASING

The most fascinating suits of the season are now here. The great demand of the past few weeks on our Suit stock has been very unusual, but we have kept the new ones coming in every day just as fast as they were going out, so today's assortments are just as large but entirely different range of styles for one to choose from; and a great many individual Suits are to be noted which do not and will not have any duplicates.

Many of the Suits are beautifully embroidered, all made with collar that button up well around neck, some are of fur. Suits priced $18.00, $24.75, $29.75, $34.75, $37.50, $39.75, $45.00.

THE NEW FALL AND WINTER COATS

We have collected an unusual variety of Coats, truly an assemblage of most striking and distinctive designs. Many of the Coats have Fur Collars. All the leading colors and favored materials are here.

COATS $16.50, $19.75, $24.75, $27.50, $29.75, $34.75, $39.75, $42.50, $49.75, $55.00.

LOVELL MAN SHOT

Neal Jones of Lovell, 22 years old, died at the hospital at Bridgton early Friday evening as result of injuries received when out hunting Thursday afternoon. His face was partially blown off and little hope was given as the result of his critical condition. He was brought from Lovell immediately following his being found by a posse Friday morning, search being started Thursday night when his failure to return alarmed members of his family. He was found unconscious in his boat in which he was lying face downward. He was clothed only in his undergarments, and this is unexplained. His shotgun was found at his side and it is thought that the weapon accidentally discharged. He left home Thursday afternoon in his boat on a small lake not far from the house to go duck shooting.

HARRISON

"Oven Folks Day"

Thursday, Sept. 29th, at the Harrison house, was a delightful and busy day observed by the Oriental Commandery, No. 22, Knights Templar Oxford Associate and their ladies as "Oven Folks Day." A delicious shore dinner was served on the broad verandas and in the spacious dining hall at 1:30 and included fish chowder, boiled clams, lobsters, hot rolls, potatoes, chips, harlequin ice cream, lemon, custard and orange pies, olives, celery, tea and coffee.

The house and grounds were prettily decorated for the occasion with asters, banners, flags and ferns. Over 200 were present and during the afternoon the guests enjoyed motor boat rides on Long Lake, walks and sport of all kinds.

At four o'clock in the Grange Hall moving pictures were shown. Supper was served at 6:30 and consisted of clam stew, crab, egg and walnut salads, hot rolls, cold meats, whipped cream pies and assorted cakes.

Cook's orchestra of Bridgton furnished music for the day and dancing in the evening. Cards were also in order and a wonderful day enjoyed. The committee of Sir Knights were Charles Cobb, Walter P. Devy, E. J. Record, Fred S. Hanson, Alvah S. Brown, Vivian W. Hills, Everett Larabee, Leon H. Ayer, Homer Luck, M. W. Stearns, Alvin Merrill, George Eastman and Lester Tibbetts. Mrs. F. P. Freeman acted as hostess for the day.

EAST OXFORD

Pratt Neighborhood

Many wells are dry in this vicinity. Nearly everyone has to get his drinking water at a distance. The rains of Monday afternoon and night helped some, but much more is needed here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Harris and sons, Richard and Lawrence, of Mechanic Falls spent the day, Sunday, at B. M. Pratt's.

Business was suspended here, Saturday, and everyone attended the Community fair at Welchville. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Paine and children visited Mrs. Paine's sister, Annie Lane, at Webster, recently. Stanley Pratt is helping H. M. Pratt pick apples. Charles Poland is also at work there.

NORTH WATERFORD

Kenneth Tibbetts from Somerville, Mass., is visiting with his wife and child, at Burnham Rice's.

Raymond Knight is wiring the house of E. B. Hersey & Son. He has just finished at M. F. Knight's and is engaged to do a number of other houses. He is a very careful workman and knows his business well.

The Circle could not have fed at our fair between 700 and 800 people for dinners, breakfast and suppers if the townspeople had not helped us so gladly and willingly. They appreciate the work of those who wait on tables, cooked and gave food and those who helped in the vestry for all that they did to help make the World's Fair a success.

Mrs. Pearl Weymouth with baby boy, has come home from Norway. They are both doing nicely.

A consignment of lumber was recently shipped from a western state to Chicago, valued at $300. The freight charges are said to have been $800. Think!

The only trouble with industry is that it needs to be a little more industrious. The stingiest people are liberal with one thing: giving advice.

Famous World's Fair

Biggest Crowd North Waterford World's Fair Ever Saw. Perfect Weather and a Grand Time

North Waterford was overrun with visitors Saturday when the last day of the well known exhibition in the village square was staged. Perfect weather was an incentive for everybody to the fair, and the time honored institution, bringing together the largest crowd ever known to be assembled at the World's Fair.

Friday being the first day, was used as a time for "setting up" for many showmen and victualers jumped in from the Fryburg show. A good number of sight-seers drifted into town early and watched preparations for the big drive on Saturday.

Business started at a lively pace early Saturday forenoon and the show was under headway before 9 A. M. Crowds gathered in automobiles in carriages and on bicycles. Many walked from considerable distances, trusting in luck for a lift. Fakir row was alive with humanity and the highways crowded with vehicles long before the sun reached the zenith. The crowd kept pouring in until it seemed the square could hold no more pleasure seekers. It was a restless throng surging like a river through the avenues dividing the tents and booths, or venturing their way up the hill to the grange hall where the customary exhibits were in place. Dancing in the grange hall and the Odd Fellows Hall kept the crowd moving lively up the highway from the square. This condition was kept up until nearly dusk Saturday afternoon.

Many estimate at least 2,000 autos were parked about the grounds or in the yard and the streets near by. Soon after the noon hour, only a careful driver could safely pick out the route through a narrow lane of cars, which packed the road sides solid from the lower road to a point beyond the I. O. O. F. Hall. Another solid block of "lizzies" and other machines jammed the roads leading past the Congregational church. It was very full and especially when the majority wished to leave the square about the same time in the afternoon. The congestion was serious at the corner near the former Mosher tavern. It was a mixture of big cars and little cars, the poor "lizzies" ready to scrap and the costly coupe all mixed with horse drawn vehicles and pedestrians. Deputy sheriff Harry O. Stinson of Norway happened along and took charge of the situation. He was assisted by W. H. Kilgore of Andover, and both served as traffic cops nearly two hours while the long line of vehicles cleared this important corner. After the snarl was untangled, and the drivers got the habit of forgetting their hurry, everything went smoothly as a clock.

So far as known, no accidents have been reported, although one car came out of the jam with the rear mud guards crumpled. Several cars had hard bumps but escaped everything but dents. Saturday was the time for family gatherings and an annual get-together. Everybody has planned in years back to meet friends on this historic spot. This year was no exception and the bunch was certainly there. Families gathered in groups on vacant spots with lunch baskets as in the good old days and enjoyed the noon hour, far away from the frankforts reeking with biting mustard and fried onions.

Midway

Never before have so many fakirs gathered in tents and booths at this fair. Chances to spend money at every turn, with the baby doll games and merry-go-round the big coin getters.

Of course the whirling machine, much improved and revised, was the center of attraction. This year "Chet" Littlefield and "Sig" Hatch pulled off the stunt of carrying passengers. Not long ago Linwood and Bert Flint operated the outfit, but decided to let others in on a good thing and sold out. The organ played the same tunes as in days of yore. Some of the young folks had forgot the solemn tunes and enjoyed the wooden horses to the limit.

Several side shows catered to the curious. Happy Emma, the handsome fat girl, was showing under the same canvas with a Giant Python. Two calves joined at the hips were in exhibition in another small tent. According to the pictorial banner, they had "grewed" together. A rooster with three legs was a feature in another show that failed to attract heavy patronage.

One athletic show within sidewalks brought Mike Nadie and Homer Truman both of Norway, into the limelight. These well known wrestlers accepted all chances on the mat and the show was largely attended.

Several baby doll outfits kept crowds before them the entire day. Trying something new for nothing, a delicious pastime with hundreds tumbling over all obstacles for tickets. Knock down the cats, cover the disk, hoop the prizes, and a dozen other games of skill were set out in a tempting row. The high striker and bowling alley were favorite sports. Ring a duck for prizes was good sport although Georges replaced live birds used at earlier fairs.

Gluttony was a strong temptation with hot frankforts, sandwiches, fruit, popcorn, cold soft drinks and something called new cider, supposed to be pressed from the apple while you wait.

"Bridge of Bridgton" sold popcorn. Will Twitchell of Oxford operated two or more stands where a quantity of bananas, grapes, confectionery and other good things were sold. Will Rice and Jimmy Weston of Auburn carried lunches, frankforts and soft drinks. Harry Isaacson of Norway had an auto truck loaded with clothing and general furnishings. Several other outfits of this kind were also scattered about the grounds. Sample shoes and slightly damaged goods from the Carroll, Jellerson Co. were sold by Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Haggerty and Miss Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dorsey of Worcester, Mass., handled snakes and wild insects. Dorsey is an authority on southern reptiles and incidentally a smart salesman. His stock of exhibits included a Texas bull snake, a Texas blue, a Texas whip snake, and several diamond rattlers. A line of talk while fondling the reptiles held the audience until a supply of medicine could be released in the crowd. He has been at the Maine fairs the past twenty-five years and has a wide acquaintance.

Indian fortune tellers secured good business from the ever present inquisitive delvers into the future. The patrons appeared satisfied with the results of the interviews as one remarked, "He told us the picture man of Mechanic Falls, snapped ferretypes."

Ladies' Circle Dinners

Real old fashioned dinners were served in the vestry of the Congregational church, for the Ladies' Circle. The president, Mrs. Ella Charles and vice presidents, Mrs. Carrie Hersey and Mrs. Charles Saunders were assisted by all the ladies in the circle to make the dinners complete in every detail. Nothing had been over-looked and the tables just groaned under the load of good things provided by the well known cooks of Waterford.

The patronage was large with a long waiting list between 12 and 1 o'clock. Tickets were handled by Addison Millett, Charles P. Saunders and C. A. Hersey. Herman Holt seated the guests at the tables and a score of waitresses were ever present when anything was wanted in the dining hall.

Live Stock Exhibit

The cattle were shown along the highway west of the church. Charles Learned, had a Jersey cow, one of the best three-year-old and another was a fine specimen of a five-year-old dairy cow. George H. Rice also showed a Jersey cow. His small herd of Holsteins were attractive.

E. B. Hersey & Son had quite a large exhibit from their farm. There were two-year-old steers, a registered Jersey bull, "Beech Hill King"; registered shorthorn bull "Fred"; ewe lambs, a registered buck, two years old, and a buck lamb.

Charles Learned showed a yoke of four-year-old oxen, and heifer calves. C. P. Saunders showed two-year-old steers were beauties. W. B. Cummings, Albany, had a grade Hereford bull, thirteen months old, which attracted favorable comment. R. McKen showed a bull. Llewellyn Millett, Waterford, had a yoke of heavy oxen. A. R. Millett, Waterford, showed oxen, as did E. L. Pike of Waterford.

Poultry

This exhibition was arranged near the entrance of the grange hall and included several coops of birds and rabbits. The exhibitors were Mrs. Clara Grover, North Waterford, white wyandottes, mottled anconas, and Duford's Game Rabbits. Leroy H. Hersey had bantam chickens. Alfred Hersey showed a duck and drake. Lillian F. Millett had a pen of Belgian hares and Mrs. L. R. Mills, North Waterford, exhibited Bronze Turkeys.

Pulling Matches

Draft horses were among the missing this year. The pair owned by Thomas Westfield of West Bethel were the only contestants in the free-for-all. They hooked onto a sizeable load and made better than 100 feet, winning first money.

The pulling of oxen and steers created excitement and brought together a large array of spectators. Good natured chaffing was indulged in and the teamsters were forced to take hunk of advice from the cosmopolitan crowd. Following are the results:

Oxen 6 ft. 10 in. Class

S. S. Abbott, pulled load 140 feet.

Oxen 6 ft. 8 in. Class

Arthur Millett, pulled 132 ft., 8 in.

Charles Learned, 104 ft., 3 in.

3-year-old Steers

Llewellyn Millett, Waterford, 86 feet.

2-year-old Steers

C. A. Hersey (driven by Leroy Hersey, aged 12 years), 55 feet was made on the first and only pull. Remaining time was waived. Smart pulling pair.

C. H. Rice, Waterford, (driven by Charles Rice, aged 8 years), empty drag used on start with several boys and men for weight. Distance not measured. Smart team well handled.

Officials: Referee Pearl Bartlett, Norway. Clerk, A. G. Edwards, Timor. A. L. H. Hill, North Lovell. Assistant, C. C. Merrill, Norway.

Bull Team Exhibition

The famous "bull team" owned by C. A. Hersey gave an exhibition of their heavy team. The team was passed to stiplate business. This odd combination is a pair of shorthorn bulls broke to a yoke and able to handle heavy loads. A load of stone estimated to weigh 4400 pounds was hauled nearly a hundred feet in three pulls with Dana Hall of Bethel, chief of the team. The team was headed by the bulls are named, received a big hand at their performance.

Dancing

Shaw's Jazz Orchestra of South Paris furnished music for dancing at the Odd Fellows' Hall, Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening. The team included Mike Nadie and Homer Truman, banjo and flute; Bessie Klein, piano and Howard Shaw, drums, saxophone, xylophone and clarinet. "Buster" Brown sang a number of times Saturday afternoon. The hall was crowded with everybody jazzing around. A. R. Brown was the casher.

Dancing under the auspices of Waterford Grange was carried on in their hall during the fair. Stearns' orchestra snapped the right kind of tempo which brought large patronage onto the new rock maple floor. The team included George Plunk, violin; Prof. Linwood Plunk, Stearns, drums; Harold Saunders, piano; and Kate Saunders vocalist. Marjorie Matherson handled the money at the door.

Hall Exhibits

The display on the first floor of the grange hall was a creditable show including fancy work, vegetables, canned goods and novelties.

Waterford grange occupied considerable space with Mrs. Billa Marston chairman of the committee that included Mrs. W. L. Flint and Mrs. Lottie Morse. The display of fancy work was attractive with many pieces offered for sale. Mrs. W. H. Card showed a table runner made in the new raised design. Mary F. Dorsey, Norway, M. Dorsey, Lottie Morse, Evelyn Morse, and Mrs. Fred McAllister had dainty crocheted and drawn work. Lydia Hutchinson, a pair of men's knitted wool socks. Lottie Morse exhibited a fine embroidered center piece. Jewelry was shown by Mrs. Billa Marston. C. Matherson. Fancy pillow nicely embroidered, Marjorie Matherson. Mrs. La-yanna Allen displayed several embroidered sets.

Mrs. W. L. Flint had a nineteen piece dainty set, handkerchiefs and other. Luncheon set, handkerchiefs and other. A fine display was the embroidery collection in one group made by Evelyn Morse, Rilla Marston, Mrs. W. L. Flint and Nona Grover. Mrs. D. H. Lebroke, North Waterford displayed a drawn rug and Mrs. Rilla Marston had one braided in many colors.

An exhibit in the grange exhibit was an inlaid table containing several hundred small pieces of various woods. The stand was handmade, the work of Late Flint.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

Midsummer Days in Casco Bay

Casco Bay with its islands, numbering upwards of three hundred, is one of the most beautiful regions of the North American Atlantic Coast, and no harbor is better or safer for shipping than that of Portland, the metropolis of Maine. The city itself is splendidly situated on high ground and its beautiful shade trees have given it the name of "Forest City."

From Eastern Promenade 160 feet above the sea the harbor with its shipping and fortifications and Portland Headlight at the border of the open ocean can be seen. From the observatory located on Munjoy Hill a wide stretch of the open sea may be seen in a clear day. There is no finer view of a city and harbor and back into the country towards the White Mts. that can be seen from the top of the Fidelity Trust Co.'s building in Monument Square. At the other end of the city is Western Promenade, 175 feet high. On this hill are located the Maine General and the Eye and Ear Infirmary Hospitals, and reservoir which supplies the city and several islands with water from Lake Sebago.

The scene at night, from the old private landing of the Island Association is grand and beautiful. With the gentle ripple of the waves on the shore from the moaning tide it is the time for sentiment. Down on the pier as twilight fades, and twinkling stars come out in the sky; With flashing shore lights dispelling the shades; That is the place where my dreams go by. Is there never a star at daylight's end, Or a wave that ripples the sea, A memory hid in the heart of a friend, To whisper a message to me! Hail! Hail! A rhapsody of evening songs, A music, soft and low; It carries a dream, on shadowy wings, Of a happening long ago.

One evening we saw the finest scene of all the summer on the island. The air was clear and balmy. The tide was rising and the waves were softly rolling on the shore. The twelve or more large street lights on Eastern Promenade had simultaneously flashed out of the darkness—a sight always worth seeing—the smaller lights on Turkey's Bridge were shining, the long South Portland bridge was brilliantly illuminated; around the shore in view was a half circle of shining glory; two large red flash lights, over towards Cape Elizabeth added to the glittering scene; the Boston boat, with its double deck of lights was slowly moving out of the harbor while the crescent shaped moon was setting but a faint light, only a short distance above Munjoy Hill, set off with great effect the artificial lights of which it seemed to be a part. The scene was beautiful beyond description, and will long remain in memory.

The most splendid view in the daytime from Great Diamond is from the embankment of Fort McKinley, on the east end of the island. Between Peak's and Long Island is an unobstructed stretch of water to the open ocean. Down the bay one can see in the far distance the lower end of Long Island, Little and Big Chebeague. A number of motor boats going or returning from the fishing grounds are usually seen in these waters, while occasionally a government boat; some sailing craft, or a bay steamer passes. Often away toward the horizon, a big sailing vessel is seen. There is no prettier sight than a vessel moving on the sea with all sails set.

The weather was exceptionally fine during all the time we were at our island cottage. Earlier in the season, when we were at home, there was a period of foggy days that the steamer whistles and mournful bell notes must have made life anything but pleasant. Two or three showers passed around us. One night it began to rain, but the next day at ten o'clock it had cleared off and the sun was out. The weather was everything that could be desired and we gained in health and strength. The memories of those dreary days in the hospital will never begin to fade, but the sympathy and sincere regards of kind friends will ever remain, a substantial reality.
